

Access to everything. Now 30% off. Upgrade now

✦ Member-only story

Programming ✓

Coding ✓

Learning And Development +

Development +

Github +

A stranger can open one issue on your public repo and walk out with your private code

5 min read · 1 day ago

The NewGenCoder ✦

Follow

▶ Listen

📄 Share

⋮ More

I set up a GitHub agentic workflow back in March because our issue tracker had rotted into a landfill. Something like 430 open issues, a third of them duplicates, nobody with time to sort them. So I did the lazy-smart thing and pointed one of GitHub's new Agentic Workflows at the repo.

You write them as a Markdown file in `.github/`, assign an issue to the bot, and it reads the whole thread, tags it, links the dupe, sometimes even drafts a fix. Felt like an intern who never sleeps and never whines about the boring parts.

Then last week a firm called Noma Security dropped a writeup titled `GitLost`, and I've been a little queasy since.

Welcome Offer

Access to everything. Now 30% off.
Unlock every single story.

- ✓ Read member-only stories
- ✓ Support writers you read most
- ✓ Listen to audio narrations
- ✓ Read offline with the Medium app
- ✓ Access our Mastodon community
- ✓ Connect your custom domain
- ✓ Create your own publications

Upgrade now

Follow

Written by The NewGenCoder ✨

183 followers · 607 following

Freelancer Full time ,React, React Native , JavaScript, Firebase, Push Notification, Java, etc 8+ Years of Experience in IT industry
