This Week in Replit. Three updates:

- 1) Security scans that run while you build
- 2) Build Replit apps with Single Sign-On
- 3) Move projects between workspaces

1) Security scans while you build.

Replit now scans your project for vulnerabilities as you build, not just before you deploy. Runs in the background, part of Replit Auto-Protect, so if something gets flagged you see it right away.

2) Build Replit apps with Single Sign-On.

You built a better SaaS app, landed your first customers, and they ask you to sign in with SSO. With @clerk, we take care of that for you. Configure Okta or Entra ID, just ask your agent. Add MFA, session controls, and more.

3) Move projects between workspaces.

You can now move a project between workspaces under the same team or enterprise account. Head to your Projects list, hit the dropdown, and transfer it over.

The little things matter.
