

ЛГБТ + Либеральные демократы

ЛГБТ+ либерал-демократы — британская группа по защите прав лесбиянок, геев, бисексуалов, трансгендеров и других сексуальных меньшинств в составе политической партии либерал-демократов. Эта организация является одной из нескольких специально уполномоченных ассоциированных организаций, что дает ей особый статус внутри партии. Ее называют одной из «самых важных» таких групп.^{[3][4]} Группа проводит кампании по вопросам ЛГБТ+ как внутри партии, так и по всей Великобритании, а также оказывает поддержку и консультации кандидатам от партии.^[5]

Образование и первые годы существования

Организация, первоначально известная как «Демократы за права лесбиянок и геев», или сокращенно DELGA, была создана в 1988 году на основе групп «Либеральные права лесбиянок и геев» и «Социал-демократы за права лесбиянок и геев». Материнские партии этих организаций, Либеральная партия и Социал-демократическая партия, объединились в Социал-либеральную партию, известную как Демократическая партия.^[6] В 1996 году название было официально изменено на «Либеральные демократы за права лесбиянок, геев, бисексуалов и трансгендеров», что включало в название бисексуалов и трансгендеров и отражало переименование партии в Либеральную демократическую партию. Однако сокращенное название DELGA использовалось до 2011 года, когда организация сменила название на «Либеральные демократы за права ЛГБТ+».^[7]

One of the early campaigns by the group was "16 or bust". Started in 1991, it pushed to lower the age of consent for sex between gay men from 21 to 16, equal with heterosexual couples. This was in contrast to the approach of organisations such as Stonewall who were in favour of lowering the age to 18, seeing it as an achievable compromise.^[2] Although the first round of votes in parliament only lowered the age of consent to 18, it was finally brought in line with opposite-sex couples in 2000.^[8]

Успехи в реализации политики

Because LGBT+ Liberal Democrats is recognised as a Specified Associated Organisation of the Liberal Democrat party it is able to put forward policy motions to the twice-yearly Federal Conference, the main democratic policy making forum of the party.

Motions accepted for debate and passed into party policy have included:

- 2011: "Science Not Stigma" motion on blood donation rules in the UK.^[9]
- 2010: "Equal Marriage in the United Kingdom" motion on the introduction of same-sex marriage.^[10]
- 2008: "Deportation to States which Persecute on the Grounds of Sexuality and Gender Identity" on treatment of LGBT asylum seekers.^[11]
- 1988: Repeal of Section 28, Criminalisation of incitement to hatred on the grounds of sexual orientation, prohibition of legal and social discrimination on the grounds of sexual orientation.^[12]

Дополнительные мероприятия

ЛГБТ+ «Либеральные демократы» ежегодно проводят ряд дополнительных мероприятий, посвященных различным темам, на конференции «Либеральных демократов»^[13], в том числе регулярные совместные мероприятия с организацией по защите прав ЛГБТК+ Stonewall.^[14]

Events at a joint 2011 fringe received widespread coverage after then Stonewall Chair, Ben Summerskill stated that his organisation did not support equal marriage and that he believed it would cost £5 billion to implement. The statement resulted in critical comments from prominent campaigner Peter Tatchell^[15] and openly gay Liberal Democrat MP Stephen Gilbert, who stated "it should not be up to me as a member of parliament to lobby Stonewall on equal rights. It should be Stonewall lobbying me".^[16] The controversy later caused a split within Stonewall itself, following further criticism from founder members Ian McKellen and Michael Cashman.^[17]

Извинения за 2013 год

In 2013, both G4S and TalkTalk were forced to apologise to the organisation, following separate incidents. In the first incident G4S, who provided conference security, had insisted on checking banners being carried by members of the group for "potentially offensive campaign material".^[18] Three months later, TalkTalk issued an apology after their web filter classified the organisation's web site as pornographic.^{[19][20]}

Мнения о членах парламента

Tim Farron

Many members of the group, while denying that former party leader Tim Farron is a homophobe,^[21] have been openly critical of his answers to questions about his views on the sinfulness of gay sex during the 2017 general election, viewing it as a distraction from the party's pro-LGBTQ+ record.^[22] Former head of the LGBTQ+ Liberal Democrats Chris Cooke made unsubstantiated complaints to the party about Farron's personal conduct when "drunk", and admitted that he "made up a story to cause trouble" following his suspension over Twitter comments directed at Conservative MP Anna Soubry.^[23]

Farron's continued fraternisation with evangelical anti-'gay lobby' groups has been seen by the LGBTQ+ Liberal Democrats as a lapse of judgement, with them asking him to apologise for a "lack of care" shown to the LGBTQ+ community.^[24]

Phillip Lee

On 3 September 2019, Conservative MP Phillip Lee joined the Lib Dems in opposition to Brexit.^[25]

Moments after he had defected, LGBTQ+ Liberal Democrat chair Jennie Rigg along with the vice chair, executive members and several other activists left the party in opposition to Lee's views on same-sex marriage and his previous campaign to bar people with HIV from being able to come to the UK.^[26]

A subsequent meeting took place between Lee and the LGBTQ+ Lib Dems at their annual conference to discuss his views.^[27]

Having previously said "Marriage should be left to the churches and the redefinition of marriage simply required more debate and consultation",^[28] Lee later insisted that his views on LGBTQ+ rights had been misrepresented, stating that he was right to abstain on the same-sex marriage vote because it was a "liberal" choice and part of a "nuanced argument".^[29] Jennie Rigg later rejoined the Liberal Democrats, after Lee lost his seat in the following general election.

Исполнительный комитет

The oversight of the LGBT+ Liberal Democrats is managed by its Officers and Executive Members. The executive committee, consisting of members elected by the party's membership, individuals co-opted by the Executive, and representatives from other Liberal Democrat affiliated organisations, is tasked with this responsibility. The present Executive assumed their roles on 1 January 2026. ^[30]
